

Foxberry expands its advisory board with Alain Kerneis

Press release

London, 24 February 2020: Foxberry Ltd (“Foxberry”), the London based index provider, has expanded its advisory board and welcomes Alain Kerneis as senior advisor. The advisory board’s purpose is to advise on Foxberry’s strategic direction and to support its management team on the delivery of its growth ambitions.

Alain Kerneis has over 20 years of investment and governance experience in public and private markets. He is currently a Strategy Advisor to the National Grid UK pension fund. Until April 2019 Alain was Managing Director at BlackRock where he held several leadership roles in the group which manages multi-asset portfolios for pension schemes, insurers, sovereign wealth funds and wealth managers. He was more recently Co-head of Investments, responsible for over £75bn of client assets in EMEA. From 2000, Alain spent 14 years with Goldman Sachs as a portfolio strategist in their investment research division. He later moved to their asset management division to run multi-asset mandates for the UK and Dutch institutional markets.

Alain was awarded a PhD in chemical engineering with AgroParisTech for his work on modelling drinking water quality in distribution networks.

David Sahlin, Chairman of Foxberry commented: “We are pleased about Alain’s decision to join our advisory board. Alain’s extensive experience with pension funds and asset managers will help Foxberry to strengthen its position.”
